We are dedicated to helping our patients with all aspects of lung disease – from early intervention through diagnosis and treatment.

- Our pulmonologists see patients in eight locations. We treat respiratory diseases, the most common of which include asthma, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and lung cancer. We also treat shortness of breath, chronic cough, and many other lung conditions including cystic fibrosis and pulmonary hypertension.
- For individuals facing cancer, our oncologists provide exceptional care and counseling. We follow patients from diagnosis through treatment and coordinate care with other specialists. We offer a full range of services with the latest in chemotherapy treatment, patient assistance, and 3 infusion centers in Wethersfield, New Britain, and Enfield.
- Our primary care team and specialists assist patients with smoking cessation and healthy lifestyle promotion.
- We offer low-dose CT scans for lung cancer screening. This provides earlier detection of lung abnormalities, which can improve survival rates.
- Our lung cancer support group provides counseling, support, and valuable education to patients and their families.
